

Cody Cork

Audio Engineer

Perth, Western Australia
0416 570 172

cody@spawn.audio

Portfolio | LinkedIn

Dear [Hiring Manager],

My name is Cody, and I'm a student at SAE University College, currently seeking a work placement as I complete the final stages of my studies.

I am a Sound Engineer with a focus on Sound Design and Game Audio. I've long admired the studio culture Larian has cultivated over the years, and beyond imagining it to be a great place to work, I've genuinely enjoyed the projects you've released. Not only for their deep narrative and innovative game design but also for the quality and creativity of the audio and animation. (BG3's Divine Smite being a strong favourite).

The opportunity to observe and contribute to game audio production pipelines firsthand at a studio like Larian would be an incredibly rewarding experience and foundational to my professional journey.

Throughout my studies, I discovered that music was only the tip of the iceberg for me. I was fortunate to have facilitators who recognised my curiosity to explore sound more broadly, pushing me to challenge myself beyond initial project briefs. This led to a stretch goal on one project where I used only my phone to completely replace the audio in a Game Trailer.

Over the course of my degree, I've developed strong skills in Ableton for creating layered, complex sound design, as well as experience with iZotope RX, Ozone, and Pro Tools. I have also implemented audio in Unity and Godot using Wwise, giving me hands-on experience with middleware and interactive audio systems.

Alongside my technical skills, nearly ten years of experience in fast-paced, customer-focused environments like bars, clubs, and restaurants has equipped me with a practical problem-solving mindset. I understand the importance of team cohesion, and being a collaborative, reliable team player comes naturally in every project I undertake.

I believe that my experience, combined with my technical and creative skillset and my proactive, positive attitude, aligns closely with Larian's values and vision, making me a strong addition to your team.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how I could contribute to Larian and will follow up in a week to see if we might arrange a conversation.

Yours sincerely,

Cody Cork